

Ed.S. in School Psychology (post-baccalaureate)

Why Choose Gonzaga?

- Become a School Psychologist, certified in the state of Washington, while meeting all national, professional standards to work in PreK-12 schools.
- Enter the program at a post-baccalaureate level and complete the requirements in three years. All courses are offered in evenings and the final year is comprised of a 1200-hour internship.
- Our cohort-style course delivery creates a trusting atmosphere and immediately begins creating a network of professionals that you can rely on throughout your career.
- Our faculty are highly-recognized and award-winning in the field of school psychology. You will be educated by leaders who are connected at the local, state, and national levels.
- Our rigorous curriculum is aligned with National Association of School Psychologist (NASP) standards and provides the background to certification in other states should you choose to move.
- Shaped by the Jesuit, Catholic, humanistic tradition, our graduates are prepared to serve with care, competence, commitment, and social responsibility.
- Established in 1928, the School of Education has been producing respected, quality graduates for nearly 90 years. You will join our vast alumni network and enjoy lifelong engagement with Zags around the globe.
